Bethel elections Tuesday — candidates are scarce

Bethel's municipal elections will be conducted next Tuesday, with polling to take place at the fire station from 10:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

There are two seats on the SAD #44 Board of Directors up for grabs, as well as two selectman's seats.

The two directors' seats are presently being filled by Merton Brown and Dick Crandall. Mr. Crandall is not seeking reelection, while Mr. Brown is. Two new candidates, in addition to Mr. Brown, turned in nomination papers last month—Carroll Murphy and Jane Rolfe. Mr. Murphy has since removed his name from the contest.

In the selectmen's contest, the terms of incumbents Arthur Gilbert and Victor Coolidge are expiring. Only Mr. Gilbert turned in nomination papers for reelection. Mr. Coolidge has indicated he will be a write-in candidate. Some businesspeople in town have been urging a write-in vote for John Thurston.

Town Meeting to consider $1M budget proposal

When Town Meeting convenes in the Telstar auditorium next Wednesday evening, voters will be asked to approve warrant articles totaling just over $1 million. The municipal budget, if approved, will be approximately 27 percent higher than the current fiscal year's municipal budget.

Accounting for the budget increase are extra expenses as the town converts its solid waste disposal from landfilling to a transfer station, plus a proposed larger police force, plus proposed capital equipment purchases.

Discussion is expected on all three major issues: solid waste, police, and capital equipment.

While the Budget Committee did not challenge the Board of Selectmen's stated wish for a larger police force—to include a third full-time officer—or the selectmen's desire for nearly $145,000 for solid waste disposal, the two boards split on what capital equipment should be purchased this coming year.

On Article 23, the Board of Selectmen recommends spending $37,000 and purchasing a new dump truck. The Budget Committee recommends setting aside $28,000 and purchasing a new truck later on.

On Article 24, the Board of Selectmen recommends setting aside no new funds for a replacement fire truck. The Budget Committee recommends setting aside $10,000 for a replacement fire truck. The Budget Committee recommends setting aside $10,000 for a replacement fire truck.

Selectmen appoint helpers in search for new police chief

Following a closed-door session Monday night, the Bethel Board of Selectmen appointed Arnel Brown, John Elliot and June Greig to the Police Search Committee. The committee will assist the selectmen and the town manager in going through resumes and interviewing candidates for the police chief's position.

To date, nine people have applied for the police chief's job, according to Town Manager Rodney Lynch. The deadline for applications is this Friday, June 9.

The position has been vacant since mid-May, when Eric Wright resigned the position, saying the job had not turned out to be what he had expected.

Unlike the eight-month search following the resignation of former Chief Bob Stearns—which was conducted by the Maine Municipal Association at a cost to the town of $2,800—the search this time is being conducted by town officials themselves, with the assistance of the newly appointed committee.

In other action Monday night, the selectmen voted 4-0 (Selectman Peter Haines was absent) to ask the Federal Emergency Management Agency to ex-

Keiser Homes will play at friendly Perham Field

It took a lot of hustle, and a little help from their friends, but the Keiser Homes Westies have regained their homelife advantage.

This season West Paris' Pine Tree League entry will again be playing all its home games at friendly Perham Field.

Last month, heavy rains caused the Little Androscoggin River to flood—inundating the ballfield, tearing away the outfield fence, and for a while even threatening the venerable grandstand.

When the waters receded the field was a sodden ruin, far too rough for PTL-caliber hardball.

Keiser Homes' player-manager Mark Thurlow, feared the worst—a season played entirely on the road or on borrowed, hermit-crab homefields far from the friendly West Paris fans.

But a little more than two weeks after the flood ebbed those fears were forgotten. Keiser Homes took to its old homelife for the first game of the season and came away with an impressive 12-2 victory over Lisbon.

In the days between the flood and the opener, the field was a busy place. Instead of taking batting practice, team members, along with friends and volunteers, put in long hours with rakes and shovels, working in 222 yards of sand and clay mix donated by the West Paris Water District and 72 tons of Crusher-

Matt returns home

Matt Cummings arrived home in Bethel last weekend, following months of hospitalization and rehabilitation in Lewiston.

Matt is the Telstar sophomore who suffered life-threatening head injuries in a skiing accident last winter.

Friends of Matt, and of his parents, Greg and Kathy, are holding a dance Saturday night in celebration of life. The dance will be at Sunday River's White Cap Lodge and will be for all ages.

I am a write-in candidate for Bethel selectman.

Playoff time for Telstar teams

Coming off winning seasons, both the softball and baseball teams of Telstar Regional High School will take part in post-season tournament play beginning this week.

The boys' and girls' teams play quarterfinal games today (Wednesday) at home. The boys, sporting a 12-4 record, face North Yarmouth, with a record of 11-5. The Rebels are ranked 4th in Western Class C and therefore have home field advantage over NYA, which is ranked 5th.

The girls, who are ranked 3rd in Western Class C, face 4th-ranked Freeport. The girls have compiled a 13-3 record, while Freeport is 9-5 during the regular season.

Both coaches like their teams' chances in the second-season shootout.

The baseball team is essentially the same one that came within a game of taking the state Class C championship last year.

Coach Levi Brown lost only one starter from last season's squad and will be fielding an experienced nine made up of seven seniors and two juniors. They have the experience and the talent to go all the way.

Pounding away in the heart of the batting order, seniors Rick Roy and Gary Williams between them have 68 RBIs for the season. Hitting in the cleanup spot, Rick notched a .228 average, while Gary, who bats third, hit .249. Setting the table for them, junior second baseman Corey Duguay batted .402 and pushed home 27 RBIs of his own.

The fearsome offense is matched by a formidable pitching staff, which Coach

Woodstock and Clukeys settle beach dispute

Town officials in Woodstock have apparently come to a compromise agreement with Harold Clukey over a disputed piece of beachfront at the end of Lake Street.

As of late Tuesday afternoon, lawyers for the town and Mr. Clukey were still hammering out final details of the agreement, but it appeared the compromise will prevent further legal battles and end short the town's attempt to resolve the long-standing dispute by eminent domain.

The terms of the agreement, as described by town officials, call for the relocation of the chain fence that current-

River forum Tuesday

A public forum on problems plaguing the Androscoggin River, and suggested solutions, will feature legislators, environmentalists, state bureaucrats and paper company officials discussing the issue.

The public is invited to join the discussion—as listeners or commentators—which will take place in the Telstar lecture hall, next Tuesday, at 7 p.m. The forum is sponsored by the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce.

Brown feels might be the deciding factor in the playoffs. A number of teams in the playoffs have one strong pitcher, but no one to follow him with; Telstar has four solid starters.

“With four quality pitchers we should do better in the playoffs,” the coach said. He is so confident in his pitching, in fact, that he's saving his two top starters (again, Gary Williamson and Rick Roy) and has tapped right-hander Jim Merrill to open against North Yarmouth.

Another asset for the Rebels is their attitude. The seniors have moved a step closer to the state championship in each of their four seasons at Telstar. But this will be their last shot.

“The players are up and ready,” their coach said. “They know what they have to do.”

The Rebel softball team can't claim to have the experience the boys do under playoff pressure, but, surprisingly, Coach Jim Lunney's young squad boasts a better (by one game) regular-season record.

The Rebels lost five starters, including their two top pitchers, from last year's squad. But sophomore Angie Hebert and junior Angie Jordan stepped in to close the pitching gap, and the rest of the team made the adjustments they had to in order to reach the playoffs for the eighth season in a row.

250-unit project planned in Newry

Developers of a proposed 369-acre subdivision in Newry have filed for a site location plan from the Maine Department of Environmental Protection, and for approval from the Newry Planning Board.

At its meeting today (Wednesday), the planning board is expected to either accept the application and begin the review process, or specify what deficiencies must be corrected before the formal review can commence.

If carried through, the project will be the largest single development ever undertaken in Newry. “It will have a major social and economic impact on the town,” First Selectman Steve Wight predicted.

The subdivision, known as Powder Ridge, would be located on land behind

Curbside trash pickup set to start in Newry

Beginning July 1, Newry residents will get curbside pickup of their household (or commercial) trash. The Newry Board of Selectmen yesterday (Tuesday) contracted with D&E Sanitation, of Bethel, to pick up trash in the town each Wednesday and haul it to either an out-of-town transfer station or landfill.

The options being considered for destination of the town's trash are the transfer stations in Norway-Paris or Rumford-Mexico, or the landfill in Norridgewock.

The board decided that pickup fees for residential trash will be paid for by the town, while pickup fees for commercial trash will be paid by the businesses concerned. The town will pay the hauling fee to the out-of-town site, plus any tipping fee at the site, the selectmen decided.

Curbside pickup will be limited to household trash. White goods, construction and demolition debris, stumps and tires must still be disposed of by the individuals concerned. The selectmen have contracted with the town of Bethel to use the Bethel landfill for another year for everything other than household trash.

Newry residents—and other users of the landfill—must pay additional fees to dispose of such items as white goods and tires.

The selectmen worked on the tax rate and calculated it will be about one mill higher than last year, or about $3.25 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. The rate will be set in the next few weeks and the tax bills will go out before the end of the month.

Local towns could get federal and state funds to pay for flood damage

Governor John McKernan last week applied for federal assistance in repairing flood damage caused by the early May floods in western Maine. The state's emergency management director totalled up $34,625 in damages in Oxford County, the hardest hit of the state's counties. Together with lesser damages in Androscoggin, Franklin, Cumberland and Kennebec counties, total reported damages in the state came to $134 million.

Should President George Bush authorize classifying the counties as a disaster area, the Federal Emergency Management Agency would pay up to 75 percent of the repairs of the damage. Gov. McKernan has said he would ask the Legislature to authorize state funds to pay for the remainder.

This would be good news to area towns, which otherwise would be left to pay for the repairs—mostly road and culvert repairs—out of their own road budgets.

Area towns have reported the following damage totals to the state: Andover, $10,000; Bethel, $10,500; Gilead, $2,500; Greenwood, $5,000; Lovell, $5,000; Rumford, $4,000; Stoneham, $1,000; Sumner, $25,000; Upton, $50,000; West Paris, $34,125; Woodstock, $7,000; Albany, Mason and other county areas, $13,000.

Public housing proposal on planning board agenda

The public housing development proposed by Gleichman & Co., of Portland, will lead the agenda when the Bethel Planning Board meets tonight (Wednesday). The meeting is being held tonight rather than next Wednesday night—the normal meeting night—because next Wednesday is Town Meeting.

The proposal to develop public housing in town envisions a large-scale development on a large tract of undeveloped land behind Mason Street.

Also on the agenda is a request to develop a gravel pit on the Clayton Kendall property in West Bethel.

The meeting will convene at the town office, at 7 p.m.

MMA ready to close the books

While students in far-off China are demonstrating—and dying—for more openness in government, here in Maine the Legislature is getting ready to decree less openness in government.

At issue is a piece of legislation proposed by the Maine Municipal Association that would hide the names and qualifications of candidates for jobs in the public sector. Presently, the public has the right to know who is applying for, say, police chief or town manager of their town.

If the MMA has its way, this right will be taken away. Citizens will no longer be able to find out who applied for a particular job. The only information that will be available to them will be the name and resume of the person actually hired for the particular job.

The MMA calls this bill (L.D. 1329) one of its highest priorities in the current session of the Legislature. Why? Because the MMA is often the outfit that conducts the candidate selection process for towns and cities throughout the state. They don't want the average citizen looking over their shoulder at how they do their work.

The MMA contends that the reason they want to close the process to oversight by the press and concerned citizens is that it is unfair to candidates to have the public know they are applying for a new job. With feigned shock the MMA asks, "What if a candidate's current employer finds out the person is seeking a job elsewhere?"

Let's face it, in an employer/employee relationship, there should be enough openness so that each knows if the employee is there permanently or is likely to move on.

Ironically, in the current search for a city manager for Brunswick—a search being conducted by the MMA—this outfit has asked the candidates to produce letters of reference from their current employers. Is this any way to keep things secret from the boss? MMA's argument for keeping the hiring process secret seems less than credible.

On the other hand, the arguments for keeping the hiring process open to public scrutiny are compelling. First, the employer is the public—not the town council or the selectmen. Second, if the hiring process is kept completely behind closed doors, the employer (that is, the taxpayers) cannot be sure that the best person has been hired or that there was not personal bias involved in the hiring process.

There are actually two versions of the proposed legislation likely to reach the floor of the House and Senate this week or early next week. The bill favored by a majority of the members on the joint Judiciary Committee would, as noted above, completely do away with public scrutiny of the hiring process. An alternative bill, favored by the joint chairmen of the committee, would close off public review of the names and resumes of the total number of candidates but would permit public review of the names and resumes of finalists for a public sector position.

Ideally, both bills should be defeated so that the present situation can continue—that is, open records of all who apply for public positions. But the MMA has lobbied hard and effectively—using taxpayer money—for shutting off the free flow of information and it is likely that the bill proposing a total cut-off of information will be passed. That is, unless the public is outraged enough to call up their legislators.

Of the local legislative delegation, only Sen. Don Twitchell has pledged to vote against the MMA proposal. What about the others? bfw

...But somebody's gotta do it

Voters in Bethel's municipal election won't have much of a choice when they go to the polls next Tuesday. There are two Bethel seats open on the Board of Directors of SAD #44. There are two people running. (There had been three; one dropped out.)

There are also two seats open on the Board of Selectmen. There is only one candidate—Incumbent Arthur Gilbert. Incumbent Victor Coolidge and businessman John Thurston have been mentioned as likely write-in candidates.

Is this any way to run local government?...elective posts going unchallenged and unsought?

With all the headaches involved in being a local official, it's understandable that it wouldn't be the sort of extra job that everyone would jump at. But surely there must be a few people in town who would like to try their hands at making a difference. No one is suggesting that they have to change the world; just that they be diligent in studying issues, listen to all sides, and make decisions on their assessment of what would be best for the town.

It is certainly late in the game to throw one's hat in the ring for next Tuesday's election, but a group of friends making a dozen phonecalls apiece can ensure a good write-in vote for a good candidate.

And for those who don't like the idea of running but like the idea of serving there is always the Planning Board. This is the board whose members get stop-shouldered from the weighty reading materials—site plans, subdivision applications, town ordinances—they are forced to carry around. This is the board whose members almost invariably are forced to appear hard-nosed to applicants in order to ensure that each applicant is following the dictates of the applicable ordinance.

This is not a board where members vote on the basis of feelings; on this board the members need to memorize the town ordinances and decide applications on the basis of these ordinances.

And for the long hours these board members put in studying and meeting, they get paid zip, zero, zilch.

Why do they do it, then? Because it's a thankless job...but somebody's got to do it. And without seven diligent members—and two diligent alternates—this board could not function, and development in the town could not be controlled.

If you want to have a real impact on how this town develops, the Planning Board is the place for you. The board is looking for three new members to replace three incumbents who have done their share. Apply at the town office—and be ready to work hard. bfw

Amy Blake gets 2 medals

Four girls from the Telstar Regional High School track team represented the school at the state meet held at Orono last Saturday.

Amy Blake had an outstanding day, winning two silver medals. She placed 2nd in the 300-meter hurdles, with a time of 48 seconds flat. She also took a 2nd in the 100-meter hurdles, with a sensational time of 18.2 seconds, which was a new school record. Amy presently holds four school records.

Other girls participating in the meet included Solai Buchanan, November Yates and Paula Michaud. Although the girls did not place, both Paula and November turned in their best performances of the year.

The boys' team was represented by Jamie Blake, Gregor Axler, Scott Emery and Eric Bennett. Although the boys were not able to garner any medals, they did perform admirably. Jamie made the finals in two events—placing 7th in both.

The girls' team sent nine girls to the regional meet, at Bowdoin College. All the girls had great performances and four of them went on to the state meet.

The girls who went to the regionals included Paula Michaud, Amy Blake, Jen Gould, Robin Michaud, November Yates, Solai Buchanan, Rina Hutson, Heather Roberts and Kristen Powell.

Solai Buchanan placed 5th in the 3200-meter run and she set another school record in the event by cutting 41 seconds off her own best time.

Paula Michaud placed 5th in the 100-meter hurdles. November Yates took a 6th place in the shot put. Amy Blake placed 2nd in the 100-meter hurdles and took a 1st in an exciting 300-meter hurdles.

The Citizen loves to receive letters. They may be on any subject of interest and, on any side of any issue.

Letters to be considered for publication must be signed and should have the phone number of the letter-writer so that, in case there are any questions, the letter-writer can be contacted.

Letters meant for publication in the week's paper should be in The Citizen office by Monday noon.

A note from the publisher

"Send lawyers, guns and money," and anything else you think might be of use is what is shaping up as a test between the little businesses of Main Street, Bethel, and one of the largest corporations in the state—Central Maine Power.

To see the way CMP has handled the re-polling and re-wiring of its Main Street line is to see how a big corporation throws its weight around—and to understand why big corporations get bad names.

Back last fall CMP approached the selectmen and asked for permission to place a pole on the Common in order to support a guy wire to a new pole the company wanted to plant in front of Annie Hastings' house. The selectmen said, in nice terms, "nothing doing." They did not want any additional hindrances to life and limb on the Common, where kids run and people stroll.

Not satisfied with that answer, CMP went back a couple of months later, telling the selectmen they had to permit the new pole on the Common, else the entire re-wiring of Main Street would be put in jeopardy. The selectmen gave in.

Then came the re-polling and re-wiring. The most egregious error to date was placing a pole through the Cole Block sewer line, putting the toilets and sinks of the building that houses the town office, W. J. Wheeler, and Citizen Press out of commission for two days.

For us at The Citizen, this meant not being able to do any of our pre-press work that requires using water and sinks—in addition to the inconvenience of having no toilets.

Next, the CMP crews cut off power to the Cole Block for the better part of one whole morning, again causing a shut-down of the Citizen's presses. When power was restored, it was discovered by phase on the Citizen's 3-phase, 220-volt line, knocking out the electronic brain of our new cutter.

That was on a Thursday. It was a Tuesday before we could get the cutter to come and repair the damage. CMP also sent an official to inspect the problem.

Despite the word of the technician that the damage was caused by the manner in which the CMP crew restored the power, the CMP official said it was this company's problem and that we would have to bear the hundreds of dollars in repairs on our own expense—not to mention the hundreds of dollars in work time lost.

I have heard rumors that CMP has caused problems to other businesses and homes along Main Street. If you can provide me with any solid information on these alleged problems, would appreciate it. Even if it is a simple phase legal case, it will be difficult to stand up to a giant. Therefore, follow the advice of the song and "Send lawyers, guns and money."

With the deluges of rain we've been having of late, the one song that keeps running around my brain is "Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head," from that classic film, "Butch Cassidy and The Sundance Kid."

If pressed, I might be able to come up with a dozen other titles of songs containing the word "rain" or variations of the word.

But from Seattle I received word this week that David Chelmers—known as "the raining champion" of song title contests—has put together a list of 1,600 song titles containing the word "rain." This feat won him first place in a Twin Blade Wiper Refills nationwide contest.

Why mention this here? Because David and his wife Lynne are good friends of mine and part owners of this newspaper. Our readers should know something about who owns their local paper, and therefore I'm including this tidbit.

According to an article the Chelmers sent me, clipped from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, David plans to donate the $1,000 prize to charity. The article quotes him as saying, "Half will go to the Salvation Army to keep people out of the rain, and the other half to the Nature Conservancy to protect the rain forest."

I was horrified Saturday when I heard on the evening news that Chinese troops had opened fire on the students in Tiananmen Square, in Beijing. Not only was it a shock to my humanitarian instincts, but moreso a shock because my wife had just left for China the day before.

Mary had flown from Boston to San Francisco to Tokyo, on her way to Beijing and thence Tsingting University for a linguistics conference, where she was to present a paper.

When I heard of the massacre in the Chinese capital, I felt sure that flights in to Beijing would have been halted and that Mary would be stuck in Tokyo.

As it turned out, flights were halted. But Mary's flight from Tokyo was the last flight allowed in. She called Sunday morning—Sunday evening her time—from the Sheraton Hotel, in Beijing. She had been scheduled to stay in the Beijing Toronto Hotel, but when she asked a cabbie to drive her there from the airport, he shook his head, held his hands as if holding an AK-47, and made rapid-fire noises. He therefore took her to the Sheraton, further from the bloodshed.

She said she saw soldiers on the streets during the #45 ride to the hotel, and inside the hotel things were somewhat chaotic. American journalists had dashed for the safety of the American Embassy in order to keep their film and notes from being confiscated by the

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

I would like to declare myself as a write-in candidate for selectman in the upcoming election.

As you may know, there is a position on the Board of Selectmen for which no candidates have submitted papers. In order to fill that important office, Bethel voters must write a name on the ballot. I ask that you consider my qualifications and write in my name.

I am a Bethel native, educated in the Bethel school system and a college graduate.

I have 15 years' experience in management in the field of science and industry. Two years ago I chose to return to Bethel to the pressing problems we read about weekly in this paper. The position should be filled by someone who is willing to work toward long-term solutions to the pressing problems we read about weekly in this paper. The position should be filled by someone who wants it, who is willing to work hard to earn it and keep it. It should not be left to the chance election of miscellaneous write-ins.

I commit myself to gathering the votes necessary to gain this seat on the board, and to the promise of performing as a dedicated selectman.

Please read and clip out the instructions for proper write-in voting, which appear [in my ad] elsewhere in this paper. Take it with you to the polls on June 13 and vote.

To the Editor:

I am writing to urge you to take an editorial stand favoring the elimination of the 40-acre lot exemption from Maine's and use laws. Land speculators and developers continue to take advantage of this exemption in order to escape regulatory review of their subdivisions, undermining the ability of LURC to manage growth in Maine's unorganized territories. The Maine House and Senate will be debating this issue next week.

Last spring, the Legislature removed the exemption for large lot subdivisions in the Portland zone and gave the municipalities—but not LURC—the option of reviewing all large lot subdivisions, regardless of location. The remaining exemption in the unorganized territories continues to create serious problems. A study by LURC found that from May through December of 1988, over 17,000 acres of forest land were converted to large lot subdivisions without any environmental review.

The Energy and Natural Resources Committee recently voted 8-5 to keep the exemption intact. The minority report would allow a landowner to create up to ten 40-plus acre lots in a five year period without going through the review process. This version represents a compromise proposal to provide landowners with a great deal of flexibility. The issue now moves to the full House and Senate where a floor fight is expected.

To the Editor:

I would like to thank Rodney Lynch for his prompt attention to my request for a Children Playing sign at the lower end of my driveway at the top of Chapin Street. The sign had fallen down over the course of the winter and I asked to have it put back quickly. The very next day there it was. I am very grateful because this is a very sharp corner and I often see cars careen around the corner, on two tires it seems, with great squealing of tires. Every time I see or hear this my only thought is that someone is going to be hit or there is going to be a terrible accident. My children and those of my neighbors do not play in the street and they have been taught to look very carefully before crossing or riding their bicycles into the street. The only problem is that at the speeds these cars come around the corner there is no time or way for the kids to get out of the way. Even adults turning into my driveway have commented that they have almost been hit broadside by people coming around the corner too fast.

I beg of you, please slow down, don't kill an innocent person. Whatever you are in such a hurry for will wait the few extra seconds it will take you to get there at a slower pace. Think how long you will be delayed if you cause an accident to a car or a person.

Thank you again to Rodney for his help and I hope to see much slower cars in the future.

To the Editor:

We would like to thank all those who helped to fix the Harold Perham Field—Pike Industries, of Watford, for the Crusher Dust; the truck drivers who delivered it, Bob Seames, Russell Parker and Tommy Russell. Also thanks to the West Paris Utility District (Phelps, Phil and Ray) for the donation of the clay for the base coat. To Hadley's for delivering the clay at such a reasonable rate, and Hadley's truck drivers, Squig, Keith and Dale. Also the donation of the free bulldozer work performed by Bruce Thurlow with Erlon Hadley's dozer.

Thanks to Laurie Strout for putting the tractor and time to rock rake and drag the infield for free. Finally, thanks to the Town Team, Keiser Homes, for the time and effort they all put forth to get the field fixed in time for the home opener.

To the Editor:

We would like to report on behalf of the Lewiston-Auburn delegation the action we took this day concerning L.D. 1713, "An Act to Establish Color Standards for Maine Waters."

We have serious concerns regarding the Governor's color standard bill, L.D. 1713. This bill calls for the implementation of some color standards by March 31, 1990. Those standards would only be determined after the Commissioner of Environmental Protection conducts an additional study and contracts with an independent person or entity to review said study, which would include—among other things—"an examination of the technological, economic and environmental costs and benefits of color standards of Maine waters."

This proposed language in L.D. 1713 clearly allows ample room for the Governor and the Department of Environmental Protection to pick and choose types and levels of discharge on a discharge-by-discharge basis and to set the color standards on an individual river at a level consistent with those determinations.

Compare those aforementioned provisions with the provisions contained in the Energy and Natural Resources Committee's amended version of L.D. 718, which would set in statute a policy that, "no individual waste discharge may increase the color of any water body by more than 20 color units and that the total increase in color units caused by all waste discharges to the water body shall be less than 40 color units." It also calls for compliance with this proposed statute by July 1, 1992. It does, however, allow the Department of Environmental Protection to establish schedules of compliance for up to three additional years for those existing sources of discharge into Maine rivers to take into consideration technological, economic and environmental impact.

Finally, the Committee's version of L.D. 718 also directs the Commissioner of Environmental Protection to report to the Legislature on the results of the Commissioner's study. This allows the Committee to make necessary statutory changes if the study presents alternatives to the standards proposed in L.D. 718.

Clearly, the Committee's attempt was to place in statute a consistent level of water quality, in regards to color units, that would avoid the inevitable political decisions that could be made down the road if the standards were left to rulemaking or additional study without clear and concise legislative intent.

A more than adequate time frame for implementation is provided for those entities currently discharging into Maine's rivers. Opportunity is also created for the Commissioner of DEP to present recommendations for statutory changes to the Energy and Natural Resources Committee to deal with technological, economic or environmental impacts concerning the proposed statutory standards of 20 units of color per discharge and 40 units of color overall for Maine's rivers.

We believe that the Energy and Natural Resources Committee should deal expeditiously with the Governor's water quality bill, L.D. 1713 and work to strengthen its intent with provisions similar to those in the Committee's amended version of L.D. 718.

Maine citizens reading this letter who feel that establishing color standards for Maine waters is important and those who have concerns about the Governor's proposal are urged to write or call their local legislator.

To the Editor:

We would like to thank all those who helped to fix the Harold Perham Field—Pike Industries, of Watford, for the Crusher Dust; the truck drivers who delivered it, Bob Seames, Russell Parker and Tommy Russell. Also thanks to the West Paris Utility District (Phelps, Phil and Ray) for the donation of the clay for the base coat. To Hadley's for delivering the clay at such a reasonable rate, and Hadley's truck drivers, Squig, Keith and Dale. Also the donation of the free bulldozer work performed by Bruce Thurlow with Erlon Hadley's dozer.

Thanks to Laurie Strout for putting the tractor and time to rock rake and drag the infield for free. Finally, thanks to the Town Team, Keiser Homes, for the time and effort they all put forth to get the field fixed in time for the home opener.

Thanks to you all!

To the Editor:

As the school year approaches the end, we would like to take this opportunity to thank the many members of our community for their efforts to enrich the learning experiences at the Telstar Middle School 6th Grade.

During the December activity period, we invited area people to talk about their native holiday customs and beliefs. Thank you to Marko Kamijo and Satoka Funazaki, of Japan; Carlos Azpuz and Jordy Felix Delafuente, of Spain; and Gregor Axler, of Germany, the Telstar foreign exchange students for sharing their customs with us. Thank you also to Ki Clough, Sweden; Tineke Owings, of Netherlands; and Rockie Graham, of Hanukkah.

Mr. Howe's social studies classes enjoyed hearing about life in India from Rev. and Mrs. Dyke, who were missionaries there. Students also heard about life in Africa from Wendy Maccolini, Mac Davis and Cynthia Garrison. Each of these people lived in different parts of Africa, so the 6th-graders learned a great deal about this continent.

The two Japanese girls, Marko and Satoka spoke about life in their country when the 6th Graders were studying Japan.

Mrs. Piccirillo's English classes had their own mini-career week in March. The Sixth Graders listened to Bob Davis, Fire Chief; Jim Hudson, veterinarian; Melody Bonnemera, pottery; Robin Fraser, stained glass; Jan Whitworth, physician's assistant; Bernie Wideman, editor, newspaper; Wayne Miller, forest service; Connie Hindman and Jim Anderson, VOICES; John Wright, beekeeping; Richard Duka and Steve Packard, welding; Dave Preble, pharmacist; Donnie Katlin, Bethel Water District; and Merton Brown, town clerk. After each person spoke about his/her career or hobby, a student had to interview a person and write a report. We appreciate that all these people took time from their busy schedules to come and talk.

Robin Lee from the Bethel Solid Waste Committee spoke about solid waste and what we should be doing now and in the future about our trash.

Melinda Remington and Nancy Grover showed a video and spoke about the Spanish Youth Exchange program. We are fortunate that these folks took time to share with the 6th Grade. It is wonderful to know there are so many caring and sharing people in SAD #44. A big thank you to all.

Special thanks to Principal Bruce Bell, Sally Hamon, the guidance committee, and the 6th Grade team; Deb Piccirillo, Linda Davis and Wayne Howe for allowing us to develop this program. Without their efforts, the community would not have been able to share their experiences with the 6th Grade.

To the Editor:

We would like to see the Marketplace re-opened, and we would like it opened under the management of David Brunette and David Mero.

Dave B. and Dave M. have been super people to work for. As employees of the Marketplace, we have met and become acquainted with many wonderful local people and seasonal residents.

The store was always clean, the meat was fresh, the produce was fresh and attractive, there was delivery service and weekly specials.

Dave and Dave were most recently associated with AG Grocers. This company cares about the Marketplace and was always there for help and suggestions on store management. In the beginning they were with a different wholesale company with little interest in the well-being of the local store.

We know many people want the store open because as employees we are constantly asked about it. Dave and Dave had to build a reputation after the store failed under the management of John Fraig. Dave B. and Dave M. have not closed the doors and run away. They are exploring every avenue available to them to get those doors open again.

We are asking our many wonderful, faithful customers to join our bandwagon and add your name to our list to present to their creditors, to go that extra mile and give them the financial help that they need to open those doors. We would welcome any comments that we could pass on.

We believe that the community needs this store. Let's get behind Dave Brunette and Dave Mero and give them the support that they need to open those doors.

pedite its review of floodplain data around Sander Brook in Bethel Village and issue new floodplain maps for the area.

"The board action was in response to a request from officials of Technical Services Inc., of Lewiston. TSI is the firm doing preliminary engineering work for the developer that seeks to build public housing behind Mason Street.

"One of the hurdles faced in developing that area is the wetness associated with Sander Brook. And one of the tasks for the developer is to engineer a solution so that the development stays dry, and so the development does not cause added wetness on the property or other residences in the vicinity of the brook.

"TSI first asked the board to approve a letter to FEMA asking the agency to take the area out of the floodplain altogether. Faced with a motion from Selectman Pat Doon to table the matter until a workshop could be held, the TSI officials said they would be happy to settle for a letter merely asking FEMA to expedite its review of new state data on the Sander Brook area. The officials said if they know how high FEMA says the water is during flood stage, they can then design a means for controlling that amount of water.

"Presently, the engineers are considering a retention pond on the eight-acre parcel. The pond would hold 50,000 gallons of water during flooding and release it into the brook after the flooding had subsided.

"Mrs. Doon was skeptical that any engineered solution could be practical given the relatively small size of the parcel of land. "I'm not opposed to the project," she said, "but I can't help but think it should be in a different area."

"The engineers of TSI, on the other hand, told the board they expected to design a method of keeping the water in check within the development. They added that their localized solution would not end the wet cellars and street cave-ins associated with the brook—only that it might lessen those problems somewhat. The project is due to come up for a second hearing before the Planning Board tonight (Wednesday).

"The board voted 4-0 to authorize the purchase of a Road Rescue brand ambulance for $57,000, if Town Meeting next week approves the allocation of funds. The Road Rescue vehicle was recommended by the D.E.A.S.S. because it is a sound ambulance, and the company has a representative in Bethel and a repair shop in Sherman Mills, plus a mechanic who can call at the ambulance barn.

"The basic vehicle is a 1989 Ford with a 7.3 litre diesel engine, plus a 142-inch by 96-inch box. Aside from the standard equipment, the new ambulance will come with a few thousand dollars worth of extras, including radios for possible emergencies, an AM/FM cassette stereo, etc.

"The board—acting as the sewer commissioners—unanimously approved a record $171,500 budget for the Sewer Department, to be funded by an increase in user fees. The budget this year, ending June 30, is $139,074. Included in the new budget is provision for a second full-time operator, as demanded by the state Department of Environmental Protection. The Sewer Department had operated with 1½ operators—sharing one person with the Highway Department.

"Following some discussion the board voted, 5-1 (with Chairman Arlen Jodrey opposed), to amend its recently adopted no-parking rule on lower Main Street below Clark Street. The amendment would allow 15-minute parking for loading and unloading in two parking places in front of the Sudbury Inn.

"Selectman Jodrey, who had been away during the adoption of the no-parking rule, was against closing off so much of lower Main Street. "I'm opposed to losing two or three parking spaces," he said. "The request for reconsideration of the total parking ban was made by David Thurston, owner of the Sudbury Inn.

"The board approved a liquor license renewal and a special amusement off permit renewal for the Bethel Inn. No one

As the Maine Legislature heads down the home stretch of its session with only one month remaining, the twin issues of income tax reform and property tax relief continue to press lawmakers for workable solutions.

Without question, the complex tax matters stand among the legislature's foremost challenges.

Adding to the urgency for restructuring the state's income tax system was the release of a report from an independent tax consultant last week confirming the legislative leadership's deep misgivings about the administration's low estimate of income tax over-collections for the 1987 taxable year.

The majority leaders had expressed the belief that the over-collections would amount to $60 million, double what had been originally projected by administration officials. An analysis by the accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Main & Co. pegged the over-collections for 1987 at $59 million—of which $24 million was returned to the state in the form of a refund. The estimated 1988 over-collection at $72 million.

The Peat Marwick report found that the inequities created in the state income tax system by changes in the federal tax code were not evenly distributed across the board, but were borne largely by middle income families. The report noted that the majority of those paying higher taxes were in the $20,000-$40,000 income category, while those being taxed less earned below $20,000 or about $100,000.

The report offered a new method for structuring the state's income tax formula but key legislators were not convinced of its validity. The challenge for this session of the 114th Legislature is to recalibrate the tax formula to eliminate inequities inherent in the existing system as well as preclude future tax over-collections.

As if the thorny income tax issue were not enough to bedevil the legislative Taxation Committee, the ears of committee members are still ringing from the protests of rate property owners demanding property tax relief. The committee received a collective earful of complaints from a recent series of hearings held in Presque Isle, Bangor, Portland and York.

Typical of the testimony were the comments of Kennebunkport Town Manager, Jane Duncan who pointed out that the tax rate in her town had climbed 52 percent in the last five years.

"It (property tax) is very regressive—it strikes most harshly on the lower income group," she maintained.

Various proposals to relieve pressures on the property tax—including state assumption of county costs—are under consideration by the Taxation Committee. Once the committee reports out its package of recommendations, the issue will go to the full House and Senate for discussion, which could provide a lively finale to the current session.

spoke against the renewals. The board also approved unkeeper, lodging house and victuaries' licenses for the various other lodging houses in town.

The board approved purchase of a sound measuring device, for $735. The device is necessary to implement the new noise regulations incorporated within the Special Amusement Permit regulations.

The board authorized the town manager to work on a contract with the BAR Corp., which operates a transfer station in Oxford, for disposal of a portion of the town's solid waste. Beginning this summer, town officials expect to begin sending most of the town's solid waste to out-of-town transfer stations and/or landfills. The contract with BAR would be just one of two or three the selectmen hope to sign in order to have multiple options for disposing of the town's trash when the landfill is closed.

The selectmen approved payment of another bill, for $1,207, to T.V. Lin for consulting work at the airport industrial park. They also approved the payment of $525 to the DEP for review of the Town's application for the industrial park subdivision. Last year the Town auctioned six jobs in the park but can't collect the money or transfer title un-

Bakers' Art Gallery & Frame Centre, on the Sunday River Road just past the covered bridge.

The development would be accessed through an existing road in the Sunday Hill Subdivision, then by way of easements across separate parcels of land owned by Romeo and Randy Baker.

The project would be a combined condominium/household development, with 99 condo units (in 26 buildings) and 100 households. Assuming that half the houses built in the project will be duplex, a total of 250 total units would eventually be built.

The houselots range in size from just over an acre to more than five acres, with most between 1½ acres and three acres in area. Many are located on steeply inclined land.

The overall parcel is in the shape of a dagger pointed uphill and to the north, with its tip lying just below the summit of Bald Mountain.

The land is currently owned by C.B. Jennings & Sons Co., but has been optioned to the developer, Glover Development Corporation, of Bethel. The principals in the corporation are George Forbes, of Newry, and Vincent Giarrusso and Francis Cassidy, both of Massachusetts.

The application process is being managed by Main-Land Development Consultants, of Livermore Falls.

The massive project is expected to receive close scrutiny from the planning board. In addition to the normal considerations involved in such a review, the board will also be looking at the potential impact of the project on a possible road connecting the Sunday River and Bear River valleys.

Such a road has been much discussed in Newry, and the town's comprehensive plan calls for eventually studying the feasibility of a traffic corridor connecting the two valleys. To date, however, the project is still at the talking stages, and there is considerable opposition to the idea among some townspeople, mostly in the Bear River area.

The development that would accompany the Powder Ridge project "really pushes along our thinking about a mountain road," Mr. Wright said.

"The town needs to take the lead in developing that road," he said, in order to insure that the job, if it is done, is done properly.

Such a road would likely follow the path of the old county road between the valleys, which was discontinued approximately 80 years ago.

A long stretch of that road lies within the boundaries of the proposed development.

Town officials are concerned that rather than ending up with a fairly direct, high quality traffic corridor, what would emerge from Powder Ridge and other possible developments in the area would be a maze of switchbacks and turns.

Traveling such a route would be indirect and relatively dangerous; and maintaining it—especially in winter—would be difficult and expensive.

According to planning board member Jim Sysko, the project's proposed access through the Sunday Hill Subdivision "may be a feasible way to access the property, but it's definitely not the best way to go about laying out a mountain road."

In a letter to the project's managers, Selectman Roger Hanscom complained that it would cost the town too much money to maintain the roads if they became town roads. He also expressed more general objections to the subdivision. The town is already overdeveloped, he contended. "I do not feel it is in the best interest of the Town of Newry to take all our forest land out of production and develop it."

til DEP approves the subdivision plan. The town manager said that approval would probably not come until next January.

Dust purchased (at a help-the-hometeam price) from Pike Industries.

With Bobby Seames and Bruce Thurlow on bulldozers, Loring Strait on bucketloader, Craig Ryerson rock raking on a Kubota, and lots of muscle work from all concerned, the big field was brought back to better-than-antidiluvian form, and even the nearby Little League field was rehabilitated.

"The infield is in the best shape it's ever been in," manager Thurlow said. The team's not in bad shape either. Last year Keiser Homes posted the best regular-season record in the PTL, but lost the championship to Lewiston, three games to one.

Lewiston, which lost its opening game last week, remains the team to beat, but Mr. Thurlow expects to give them a run for their money.

One reason for optimism is the return of lefty Rick Bean, who didn't play last year. He joins an already-strong pitching staff, anchored by Bethel ace Levi Brown.

ly extends directly out into the lake, along the property line separating the Clukes' lot from Lake Street.

The relocated fence will still start on that line, at a point approximately 10 feet inland from the water's edge; however, instead of extending directly out into the water, the new fence will be swung 45 degrees to the north, and it will end at the waterline.

The wedge of land opened by the fence's relocation is quite small, but First Selectman Gary Wing said it back on the road for next winter. If a new truck is purchased, this truck will be sold. If we do not purchase a new dump truck in FY90 then we will have to buy a new one in FY91 and another one in FY92, as the 1980 GMC dump truck will need to be replaced in two years.

The Budget Committee has recommended that $28,000 be raised and set aside in a reserve account for the future purchase of a dump truck and that an additional $11,000 be raised in the Public Works Department budget to be put in to repairing the 1977 International dump truck in order to keep it on the road for one more year.

The Selectmen feel that a new dump truck could be purchased this year by taking the $28,000 that the Budget Committee wants to set aside in a reserve account and combine this amount with the following:

1. Not raise $15,000 this year under Article 24 for Fire Truck Reserve Account—$15,000.
2. Not raise $5,000 this year under Article 25 for Police Cruiser Reserve Account—$5,000.
3. Not raise an additional $11,000 in the Public Works budget under Article 26 to replace a replacement cruiser. The Budget Committee recommends setting aside $5,000.

Budget Committee head Arnold Brown said, "The selectmen think one thing; we think something else. Let the voters decide." Which is what Town Meeting will have to do, starting at 7 p.m. next Wednesday.

Bethel Town Office

FROM THE
This week's column is devoted to the upcoming annual Town Meeting and some of the more important articles that will be on the warrant.

The business portion of the annual Town Meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, June 14, at 7 p.m., at the Telstar High School auditorium. The selectmen and school board elections are scheduled for Tuesday, June 13. Voting will take place at the fire station, from 10:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. (The election hours have been changed from previous years.)

Article 6—Police Protection: The FY90 Police Department budget request of $78,584 includes the request for a third full-time patrol officer. If approved, this would be the first net gain in the number of full-time town employees in over four years.

A third full-time officer would essentially provide for nearly 24-hour police protection. This could be accomplished by implementing a split rotating patrol shift schedule.

At the June 1987 Town Meeting the voters overwhelmingly voted to retain a locally controlled police department; since that time the voters have gradually been making the manpower and financial commitments to this end.

Article 21—Capital Improvements: The capital improvement items include $10,000 for Town Office space renovations and $11,500 to paint the exterior of the Cole Block building.

Article 22—Capital Equipment—Dump Truck: This article has two different recommendations; one by the Selectmen and another by the Budget Committee.

The Selectmen propose to continue the Town's program of upgrading town equipment and vehicles by purchasing a new 1990 dump truck with plow and wing for $67,000 that will replace the 1977 International truck which is 12 years old and has 120,857 miles on it. The engine needs to be rebuilt, the rear end could go anytime now and it uses 30 gallons of gas per day during a snowstorm compared to a diesel engine which uses 30 gallons of fuel per day. It is presently out of service and will need an infusion of $11,000 in repair work in order to get it back on the road for next winter. If a new truck is purchased, this truck will be sold. If we do not purchase a new dump truck in FY90 then we will have to buy a new one in FY91 and another one in FY92, as the 1980 GMC dump truck will need to be replaced in two years.

The Budget Committee has recommended that $28,000 be raised and set aside in a reserve account for the future purchase of a dump truck and that an additional $11,000 be raised in the Public Works Department budget to be put in to repairing the 1977 International dump truck in order to keep it on the road for one more year.

2. Not raise $5,000 this year under Article 25 for Police Cruiser Reserve Account—$5,000.
3. Not raise an additional $11,000 in the Public Works budget under Article 26 to replace a replacement cruiser. The Budget Committee recommends setting aside $5,000.

Budget Committee head Arnold Brown said, "The selectmen think one thing; we think something else. Let the voters decide." Which is what Town Meeting will have to do, starting at 7 p.m. next Wednesday.

Here in this great outdoor museum I'm in the presence of nature each day. I do not see it through the eyes of another, but my own.

Education? Yes, but this program is forced on nobody. You take it or leave it. You enjoy yourself as you please.

I saw this week for the first time a new episode in my life and found my gray squirrel real interesting. We usually think that a wild animal lives beyond human control and support. It finds its own food and shelter, and nature alone determines the time for the bearing of the young.

This special Gray took over my duck house in early spring. She must have liked the beauty of the surroundings. The house is attached to one of a group of birches near my mail box and overlooking the pond. From her only window, the hole in the front, she could watch the ducks, the geese and the swaying bushes. She remained there, feeding on my bird seeds or the doughnuts I had put on a wire.

Well, this week she decided to move. Why? I don't know. Was it because of a neighbor's black cat which waited beneath her home, sometimes a hour or more at a time? Or, did she worry about her babies falling into the water. Which ever or why—she moved.

I looked from my window and saw her entering the road with what looked to be a large gray ball. I took my binoculars to get a better view. The gray ball was a baby and nearly half as large as its mother of 15 or 20 inches, including its versatile tail. In rain the tail curves over its back as an umbrella. In cold it's a blanket. The squirrel flips it in greeting, fluffs it in anger, waves it in courtship. It serves as a balance. In a fall it's used as a parachute; in water as a rudder. To get back to the "moving", Mother went down the road a little way, crossed the ditch at her left, then went through the tall grass to my lawn. She then crossed the lawn, my driveway, and into the woods. In a very few minutes she returned to the duck house, took out another baby and traveled the same route again. But this didn't end here for she made a third trip. By now she was tired so had to stop often to finish her task. The little ones will find their new home a divine isolation daily unfolding. They will gaze up the hillside at the stately maples and down at my apple trees resplendent with showy white tapering blossoms. Then when grown they will scamper down a little path, cross the wild-flower overgrown ditch and start their new life. I'll watch for them from my windows.

On May 27, Fay Holt gave her granddaughter, Mary Holt, a party for her 5th birthday. Even though it was wet outside she enjoyed her seven little guests and her many gifts as well as refreshments of cake, ice cream and punch.

My brother, Ernest and daughter of Poland came to see me on Memorial Day. Max Pulsifer has returned home from the hospital.

John and Dot Betts' families were here over the holidays. They had plans for outside work but the weather didn't cooperate.

Rena Curtis has been in Brunswick several days, helping to care for her sister.

Our last Tuesday Club meeting was at Dot Betts' home. We plan to meet again in the fall.

Robert Holt and family visited his parents over last weekend.

STEVE WIGHT MAKES SOME ADJUSTMENTS on a bike being outfitted for Lauren Hansen during the Rotary bike-swap Saturday. Mother Nancy helps with the outfitting.

Locke Mills

By LORRAINE MILLS

Mary Mills was at Muskie Auditorium, Rumford High School Thursday evening where she attended the graduation of about 80 sixth graders, one of whom was her grandson, Dustin Mills, from the D.A.R.E. culmination program. D.A.R.E. stands for Drug Abuse Resistance Education and is sponsored by the Rumford Police Department. This course is given to sixth graders in the four elementary schools in the Rumford area. Dustin is a student at the St. Anathasius-St. John Elementary School. Besides their diplomas, they were given

T-shirts and balloons with the initials D.A.R.E. This extensive course is designed to try to prevent drug use before it gets started, by education before the students get to the Junior High level. Mr. and Mrs. John Mills were in Fryeburg Sunday where they attended the morning services of the Fryeburg Assembly of God and then went to her father's, Charles Swan's, where they had a small birthday celebration for him. His nephew, Bobby Chapman, was also a visitor there and a sister-in-law, Hilda, stopped in as did Joan Rawson.

I hear Denise Swan is also among those who celebrated a birthday on May 30. The Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary met Tuesday evening with Barbara Dunham, Flossie Bernier, Charlotte Kimball, Denise Swan, Lorraine Mills, Sally Melville, Cheryl Young, Maggie Ring and Mary Stone present. The upcoming Senior Citizen dinner was discussed. The Auxiliary has been invited to meet with the Bryant Pond Auxiliary to share ideas. The proceeds of the supper were $282, not $242 as reported last week.

Newry

By AMY HANSCOM

Memorial services were held by the Memorial Rock at the municipal building Sunday morning, following regular services at the Newry Community Church. James Sysko gave the welcome address, announcements for the program and read the names of the veterans. Pastor Rodney Hanscom gave a short talk. Sylvia Wight read "In Flanders Field" and Gilberte Seeley read the "Answer to In Flanders Field." Gretchen Wight placed a wreath on the memorial rock with the plaque of World War II veterans. A wreath was placed in the river, honoring the sailors. Legion members from Mundt-Allen and Jackson-Silver Posts served as color guard and bearers. Jackson-Silver Post played taps and had the firing salute. Church organist played her Cassio and the program ended with singing "America" and "America the Beautiful."

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hatstat of Brownsville, Vt., are spending this weekend at their summer cottage here. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson and Wesley and Mr. and Mrs. Albert White and girls were camping over the holiday weekend in the Rangleley area.

transporting to some disposal site appears to be the best solution at the present time. Several options for this are available. The selectmen and solid waste committee are favoring D & E Sanitation for the pick up. Virgil Conkright, fire chief, reported that he had attended several meetings with fire chiefs from other towns and had attended training courses. Most of the day was devoted to tax assessing. The greater part of the valuation work has been done and material is ready for the computer. As soon as the total valuation is determined, the assessors will compute the tax rate and the computer will do the tax bills, which should be ready to mail out next month. A 2 percent discount will be allowed on taxes paid within 30 days.

A special town meeting was held Tuesday evening to see if the voters would allow the selectmen and fire department committee to expend $7,500 from the Fire Department Fund to purchase equipment needed to bring the department up to class 9, enabling property owners to get reduced rates on fire insurance. This included an attached pump, replacing the portable pump on the International 2,000 gallon tank truck, and other needed equipment. This was passed without opposition, as was an article accepting state guidelines for general assistance changes in the road specifications, proposed by the ordinance review committee.

The ordinance review committee were accepted after some debate, and after requirements that top gravel used must pass through a two inch screen was changed to a four inch screen, and calling for hot topping, or mix in place, compacted to two inches to be added. The specifications called for two coats of bituminous and sand mixture to be added to the gravel base and the hot topping may be added.

The Building Code was revised to allow UL approved metalbestos chimneys. Metalbestos chimneys had been barred and masonry chimneys required. The revised Standard Zoning and Sign Ordinances were accepted. A Borrow Pit Ordinance was passed over as the committee felt that was not ready to be presented to the voters. Stephen Wight served as moderator of the one hour meeting.

By CLARICE GIBSON

The flowering crab and apple blossoms have now gone by and the lilacs and columbine are displaying their splendor. The bugs are making it very unpleasant to work outside, but the rains are making everything come along so fast, one has to go out to even begin to keep up with the weeds. The Sunday before Memorial was windy and cold. The 27th Ira and Kristin Gibson had invited Frank and I and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Green and brother of South Paris, for a cookout. We were almost finished when the rains came, so we each grabbed something and went for the house.

The 24th I went to Nancy and Kathie Hanscom's and Gloria Snyder also came. We had lunch, got caught up on some news and each brought a project to work on.

The 30th I drove to Zeyre's to pick up some of their bargains and invited Evelyn Larson to ride along. Wednesday my sister, Iva, invited me to go to Gorham, N.H., with her. June 2 I was pleased to have Eleanor Brooks drop in for a short visit.

The 30th was Dr. Leonard Shaw's birthday, so Becky Shaw had a family gathering the 27th. Coming for cake and ice cream were Bob and Ginny Keniston; Jody, David, Heath and Heather Keniston; Peter, Stacey and Elise Keniston.

Homer and Edie Smith went to visit their son, Larry, Sally Smith and family the 28th at East Conway, N.H. Also visiting at Larry's was another son, Kerry, Dianna Smith and family of Newburyport, Mass.

Adam Smith of Lexington, S.C., arrived the 28th to spend the summer with his father, Doug Smith, and grandparents, Homer and Edie Smith.

Sylvia Benson went the 25th to her son's, Frank Jr., and family in Augusta. Friday Frank Jr., Carol, Chris, Wendy Benson and Sylvia left for Orange, N.J., for the wedding of the Frank Jr.'s son, Randall Benson and Stacey Kass. The pre-nuptial get-together was the 27th at a New Jersey Inn and the wedding was the next day at Laton Hall University College chapel and the reception was at the bride's parents'. Bobby Benson of Boston, Mass., was his brother's best man. The Bensons arrived back Memorial Day.

Joyce Stearns and Pat Murphy went to Rangeley to decorate family graves.

Howard, Maki and Nick Chapman went to Moosehead for the long weekend. George and Betty Gilbert went camping at Cuscutta Lake over the long weekend. Their son, Randy, and family came up to visit Sunday.

Matthew Laban is home with his parents, John and Sue Laban, from his studies at University of New Hampshire, Durham, N.H. Another son, Chris, has gone to Ume, Norway, Europe for his summer employment.

Ernest and Alberta Angevine went to Telstar to a concert in which their granddaughter, Vicky Coolidge, participated. Ernest, Alberta, Avery, Mary Angevine and Betty Blake went to the Maine Yankee in Wiscasset the first of June.

Lee MacDougal was with her parents, Alden and Barbara, for the long weekend.

Beth Douglass and a friend came for dinner with her parents, Dick and Grace Douglass, Memorial Day.

Matthew Bean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Bean, marched with the Telstar band in four parades.

The 28th the Victor Coolidges took a trip to Vermont and Canada.

Melinda and son, Stephen, Bishop were visitors from May 25-29 with her parents, Charlie and Ruth Mason. Matthew Bishop went up-country fishing with friends.

Monday Charlie, David and Meridith Mason marched in the Locke Mills parade. Meridith was poppy girl for Jackson-Silver Post #68.

Memorial Linda, Seth and Jon Howe went to Rumford to the Memorial Day parade. While in Rumford they visited Linda's mother, Sylvia Fontaine, and also a friend, Jane Doucette.

Seth Howe started T ball practice at Telstar May 30.

The 28th Pat and Jack Greig had the annual get-together. Attending were Ramona Filiault, Jodel and Bell Usher and family, David, Roberta Hunt and family, Brooks and Joshua Morton, Peter Morton, Harry and Judy Morton and family.

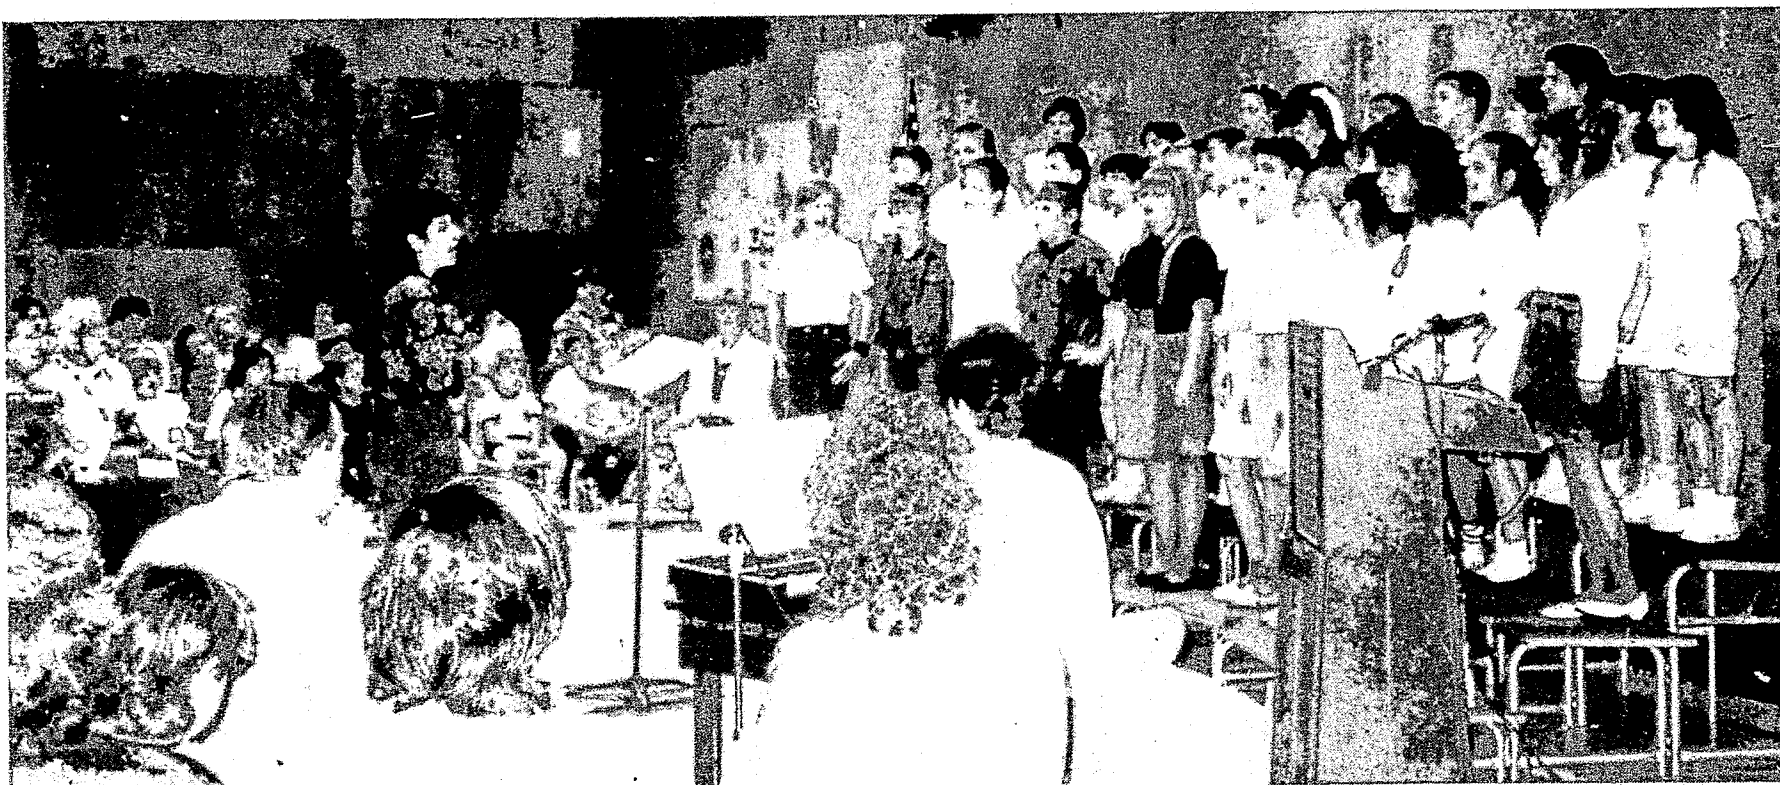

The 31st Frank's sister, Roberta Pevear and Eddie stopped on their way to Hampton Falls, N.H., from Rangeley. They have sold their place in New Hampshire and so have to move.

Was going through some of the things of Mom's when I came across this:

There is nothing whatever the matter with me/I'm just as healthy as I can be./I have arthritis in both my knees/And when I talk I talk with a sneeze/My pulse is weak and my blood is thin/But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in./Arch supports I have for my feet/Or I wouldn't be able to be out on the street./Sleep is denied me night after night/And every morning I look such a sight/My memory's failing, my heads in a spin/But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in./The moral is, as this tale unfolds/That for you and me who are growing old/It's better to say, I'm fine, with a grin/Than to let folks know the shape we are in.

CARD OF THANKS

Special and sincere thanks to all the friends and family who sent letters, cards, plants, flowers and food to me at the hospital and at home. Your prayers, support for my family, concern and visits have been a great source of strength in my recovery. Many, many thanks to each of you. Bob Davis

THE ANDOVER ELEMENTARY SCHOOL community was treated to a musical "Spring Fling" the evening of May 30. Fourth-graders wore "Shades" for "Sun-fir USA," and shook mariachos to the tune of the "Banana Boat" song. Third-graders played recorder tunes, while kindergartners and 1st-graders used signs to sing old favorites and the "Pizza Hut" song. Fifth- and 6th-graders wowed the crowd with nifty '50s hits, such as "At the Hop" and a selection from the musical "Grease."

COUNTY REPUBLICANS MEET

The June meeting of the Oxford County Republican Committee will be held at the South Paris Fire Hall, Tuesday, June 13. A social hour will begin at 6 p.m. with a potluck supper at 7 p.m. and a program immediately following.

The public is encouraged to attend. The speaker will be Mr. Don Polkers, State Republican Committeeman from Scarborough, who is addressing meetings statewide on Republican principles and the role of the Party in the 1990 elections.

It was standing room only at the May meeting of the Oxford County Committee, held at the West Bethel Grange Hall. Captain Eugene "Red" McDaniel inspired the 60 people present with his stories of being a Vietnam POW for six years. Captain McDaniel, who lectures nationalwide of his experiences in Vietnam, is founder and president of the American Defense Foundation in Washington, D.C. He is also the author of "Scars and Stripes," a book telling about his years of captivity in a Vietnam Communist Prison.

Captain McDaniel has also served as the director of Navy/Marine Corps Liaison to the U.S. House of Representatives. Since his retirement from the Navy in 1983, Captain McDaniel has traveled extensively, increasing public awareness of the need for a strong national defense. The public is always urged to attend Oxford County Committee meetings to share in the dinners, hear the speakers and learn of the work done locally by the committee. Chairman of the committee is Tom Winsor, of Harrison.

A FAMILIAR SPOT—Roy Newton presents a plaque to Leah Deegan commemorating her 28 years at Newton & Tebbels Inc. Mrs. Deegan retired last week from a long and productive career, but she hopes to eventually return part-time to the glue pin shop, where she put in many of those 28 years.

Early arts and trades workers group will meet at Andrews' water mill

The Andrews historic, 1924, water powered mill will be the site for a meet (gathering) on June 9-11 of the Northern New England and Maritime Provinces Chapter of the Society of Workers in Early Arts and Trades (S.W.E.A.T.), of which sixth generation Lenwood Andrews is a member.

The S.W.E.A.T. National and Chapter meets are traditionally fairs, which are informal gatherings for demonstrations, displays and trades. S.W.E.A.T. was founded in 1984 by Ted Bair, 74, of the old trades. Ted and his wife will be here, both dressed in historic attire, and doing weaving, making rope and exhibiting other 19th century crafts.

Will Bent, a councilman on the S.W.E.A.T. National Chapter, from Bridgton, Nova Scotia, will also be here doing wood carving and other old crafts with wood. He will be using the early type tools in his demonstrations. There will be several other exhibits and demonstrations, plus Mr. Andrews (Pete) will show the wooden cog water powered mill in operation. It is hoped that the contingent from Nova Scotia may also get Pete's old kerosene 15 H.P. Fairbanks/Morse engine started. This was the back up power when water supplies became exhausted. It will be a memorable sound, not heard for over 25 years, to hear this old engine running again.

Catered refreshments plus humorist Joe Perham and old time music are on the weekend agenda for the visiting S.W.E.A.T. members.

The public is invited to attend on Saturday, 1-4 p.m. at no charge and will have an opportunity to "roll back the clock" and see some of the people involved in trying to keep the arts and crafts alive that shaped our country.

Ron Kley, of East Wintrop, is "Clerk of the Works" for upper New England and Maritime Chapter, which is sponsoring this meet. Ron is former curator at the Maine State Museum and is now involved in nationwide museum work for the presentation of our heritage.

The Andrews' Mill has had three different types of water wheels in its 165 years of existence. It was originally built for sawing long lumber. Later, an addition was added to make saws and doors and a few coffins. Prior to the turn of the century, it was used only as a casket factory and at one time produced 1,200 cloth covered caskets per year for shipment to undertakers in the New England area.

There were 12 to 15 men employed at this time and the casket styles were of a more simple design than the ones of the present times.

The old mill has been the subject for many artists, who are always welcomed by Pete.

Cindy Thompson mowed lawns around the church and Ladies Aid buildings as a courtesy to the residents and visitors. It would be great to have a person or group revive these two organizations, which lapsed from a variety of reasons, mistakes and faults, and to have those formerly involved willing to set aside past problems and cooperate.

New owners of the Tripp camp on Backstreet, the John Haines family of Greenwood, spent the long weekend here. Margaret Mitchell returned home after spending her annual Memorial cemetery care with her sister, Tillie Grundy. Her daughter, Berta and family, were in Upton over the weekend.

Due to some tampering with mailboxes on Route 25, the residents of Backstreet have resubmitted for a route extension. There are now five homes occupied by year-round residents, several part time or summer residents and house lots being cleared.

We went to Andover Tuesday for auto registration and other business, then on to the Bethel area where we combined visiting and errands. We learned we are to be great-grandparents a couple more times.

Apple trees are very beautiful this year. The near frost did not appear to damage them. Our two trees, which were called the big apple trees since we first moved here in 1945, are covered with blooms. This is only the second time I have seen them so arrayed. Others that are usually spotty are a mass of pink and white. As we traveled by tractor and trailer to get a load of manure, I was able to see through roadside trees many such trees on abandoned farms. The deer should be well nourished this fall and may that help increase the herd.

Woodstock School

From the Desk of the Principal. As we begin to wrap up another year here at Woodstock Elementary School I would encourage you to make note of the many exciting events taking place here at school. The next two weeks are among the busiest of the school year.

As you may know, due to a big increase in numbers, we shall be looking at a third Kindergarten classroom here at Woodstock next year. Nearly 40 children have already registered for September. It looks like enrollment here at Woodstock Elementary School may surpass 200 next year. That is quite an increase considering we had an enrollment of 121 in 1984.

Many thanks to Brian Stowell, Judy Bennett, Sonja Davis, Helen Manjourides, Robyn McInnis, Ray Robert and Chris Soente for all their help and planning with regards to the 6th Grade Fenway Field Trip. The children had a great time visiting the Museum of Science, the New England Aquarium and Fenway Park. It was a field trip second to none.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

The June meeting of the Bethel Historical Society was held Thursday evening and featured a slide presentation on "Mills, Markets and Techniques: Maine Lumbering 1620-1920," by Dr. Richard Judd, assistant professor of History, University of Maine, Orono. Dr. Judd traced the history of logging in Maine, noted changes in mills from the up-and-down saw to the band, the reliance on water in the early days for power to steam and then to electricity, the various means to transport logs from oxen to Lombard Log Haulers, and the changes in loggers' lives through the 300 years of Maine history included in his presentation. He described the impact of lumbering on Maine history and its importance for Maine's future.

During the business portion of the meeting, President Marvin Owings thanked all those who were responsible for the very successful Faye Taylor Memorial Art Show and the 200th anniversary birthday party for Dr. Mason. He announced that the next meeting would be held July 6. This is the annual picnic meeting and will be held on the Benjamin Russell farm, now the home of his descendant, Geraldine S. Howe, beginning at 6 p.m. The meeting at 7:30 will include the official marking of the graves of Benjamin Russell, Sr. and his wife Mary LeFavre Russell, both born 200 years ago in 1739. Benjamin Russell, Sr. was Bethel's first town clerk. Bethel's present town clerk, Merton True Brown, Sr., will make some remarks on Bethel town clerks through the years and a list of Bethel town clerks, with short biographical sketches, will be distributed to everyone attending. President Owings urged everyone interested in picnicking and honoring the Russells to attend.

Society Director Stanley R. Howe announced the gift-of-the-month was a microfilm cabinet given by the children of Arthur P. and E. Louise Lincoln. Director Howe expressed the Society's gratitude to the Lincoln family for a piece of equipment sorely needed to house the more than 400 reels of microfilm currently in the Society's collection.

Persis Post announced the refreshments for the evening, always popular with loggers, pie and cake. A social hour followed.

Looking Backward

10 Years Ago: An automobile accident in Locke Mills took the lives of five teenagers. The car they were riding in left the road near Bob's Corner Store and plunged into the pond outlet; the driver escaped. Theodore E. Johnson, of the Shaker Community, at Sabbathday Lake, was the featured speaker at the monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society. The Dr. Moses Mason House was featured in the June 1979 issue of "Down East" magazine, with four pages of text and photographs. The Middle Intervale Meeting House property was quit-claimed by the Carter heirs in preparation for the organization of a Middle Intervale Meeting House Society to govern and preserve this historic structure.

Deaths: Rena A. Brown, Gladys E. Cole, Nettie F. Swan, Bradley W. Boyce, Felicia G. Moffett, Susan L. Osgood, Gerald W. Swan, Eric J. Wentworth.

THE WINDY VALLEYS SNOWMOBILE CLUB held its annual lawn sale Saturday, at Newry Corner. Following the sale, everything left is donated to the Oxford County Association of Retarded Children. The club members make many donations to this group. Last March they donated $2,700—the proceeds from their "Ride-in 89."

20 Years Ago: The Maine State Highway Commission awarded P.H. Chadbourne & Co. the contract to pave a total of .544 miles of road in Gilead-Batchelders Grant with a bid of $27,387. The 8th-grade science classes at Crescent Park School visited Perham's Gem and Mineral Store at Trap Corner.

Deaths: J. Carlton Lapham, Enfield P. Durgin.

30 Years Ago: A warehouse on Paris Hill, owned by Hamilton O. Cornwall, was destroyed by fire caused by lightning. An estimated $13,000 worth of machined wood parts was lost. Telephone booths were installed near Bucky's Service Station on Railroad Street and in front of the telephone office on Elm Street. Graduation exercises were held at William Bingham Gymnasium for 48 Crescent Park School students. Filmore Clough received the Bachelor of Science degree at the 73rd commencement exercises of Springfield (Mass.) College. The former Robertson house on the corner of Main and Elm streets, one of the older houses in Bethel Village, was razed. The space became part of the grounds of the Thunderbird Motel (now the site of the Bethel House). The State Highway Commission held a hearing in Bethel on the construction of an overpass at the junction of routes, 2, 5, and 26.

Another week gone by and still not the best of weather to plant gardens. Russell has taken advantage of the cloudy, but not rainy, weather to plant and repot and whatever was necessary to get things ready for the garden. He keeps busy all the time doing something and we should have some pretty flowers this year with all he has planted.

Hilda Taylor was up one day last week and as I had returned some books she had loaned me, she called to see if I would like some more to read. Of course, being a bookworm, I said yes so she brought me another bunch of books to read. Visited with us for a while as it was her day off from work. We don't see much of her so was glad she came to visit.

Another day a car drove into the yard and it was our cousin, Evelyn Tammien, and her niece, Barbara Honkala. We saw Barbara last summer while she was in Bethel working and she will be there again this year so hope we see more of her. It is always so good to see folks when you least expect it. It helps make the day better for someone calling to see one.

Was in North Bridgton a couple of times last week for back treatments as it had gone haywire. It likes to act up at times and this is one of them. Probably knows I would like it to behave and just doesn't want to. I am getting ready for my trip to Colorado next Tuesday so don't expect a column in the paper unless Russell gets to write a few lines.

There is so much to be done this week as Peggy and I are going to help my daughter with her graduation reception by making up the finger rolls for her and it will be a job. Twenty five dozen rolls takes a lot of filling so we will be busy on Friday. Also, I have doctors appointments to keep as well as trying to get everything together to pack for the trip. Makes a body wonder if it is all worth it but guess I will find out. Everyone I talk to that has been to Colorado says it is beautiful country so I am looking forward to seeing it.

I sat at the table the other night and was looking out the back window when I saw a pretty sight. I saw a ruby throated hummingbird and was surprised as I didn't think they came so early. He acted as though he was looking for the feeder that was out there last year so I told Russell what I had seen and he has put out the hummingbird feeders and there are several birds coming to both of them so it won't be a waste of food. They are so cute when they drink and then perch on the wire above the feeder. Some folks don't think they perch at all but they sure do. We had never had any of them come like they did last summer and it was a treat to watch them. I never realized how much they would fight either but that they do also. We didn't think they would have too good luck finding flowers that they could eat from at this time of year and that is another reason Russell put out the feeders. Guess by the way they come to them they appreciate it.

It has been interesting lately to go for walks along the road and see all the wild flowers there are along the ditches and on the banks. I used to love to go hunting for wild flowers but haven't for years. However, along the road are many of the flowers that I used to find in the woods by the golf course in Norway when we lived on the Waterford Road. There are the stinking Benjamins, dogtoothed violets, both white and purple violets, star flowers and many others. Guess I hadn't stopped to see them in years gone by but have sure noticed them this year and it makes the roadside pretty when adorned with the many wild flowers that grow there. The thing that makes it not so pretty are the many items thrown out of cars as they drive along the road. Why don't folks take their garbage home and dispose of it if there instead of littering the highways? It is a question I can't answer.

JACKSON-SILVER POST NEWS

Members of the Jackson-Silver Post met at the Legion Hall in Locke Mills, June 1, at 7 p.m., following the benefit supper for Mary Plawick and family who lost their home and everything this past month. Seventy-five people attended the supper.

Reports were given on the Memorial Day Parade. The Post deeply appreciated the service of the Telstar Band. A sad note, however, is the flag etiquette was observed to be very poor; very few saluting the flag—even former servicemen. This Post takes the position that failure to salute and show proper respect to the flag is dishonoring and insulting to those who died for it. It is an obvious evidence of a lack of patriotism. Makes one wonder if there was, God forbid, another war if this country could field another army to fight for it again. Just a thought.

The following matters of business were acted upon: Voted that finance officer should take care of the bills throughout the summer months; that the sewage system is to be cleaned; that the old Beano machine would be donated to V.F.W. Post #2920 of New Hampshire. Chaplain Rodney Rowe thanked the Post for the part they played in the Memorial Day services in Newry.

The proud announcement was made that the relatively new Sons of the American Legion voted to provide $700 in scholarship funds. Five hundred dollars was donated to the Earl V. Colby Memorial Scholarship Fund to be given to Miss Kelly Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bartlett, on the condition that she show a passing grade her first year of college.

The Post will conduct a flag burning ceremony at the Legion Hall for all other Posts of this district, June 11, at 1 p.m. Anyone having a flag that they would like to dispose of is invited to get in touch with any member of the Post. The ceremony will be under the direction of the Post commander.

This will be the last meeting of the Post until Aug. 17, which will be an outdoor cook-out for the members of the Post and families.

Pharmacy & Your Health

Athlete's Foot Treatment

Athlete's foot is the most common fungal infection occurring on the skin. The infection may cause pain, inflammation, scaling, breaks in the skin, and possibly a loss of the top layer of skin. The areas between and under the toes are most frequently affected. The organisms that cause athlete's foot thrive in a warm, moist setting. While severe athlete's foot may require the care of a physician, many infections can be prevented or treated with self care and the use of nonprescription medicines.

Keep both feet as clean and dry as possible. Change socks frequently, especially during hot weather. Carefully dry the feet after bathing or swimming. Wear wooden or rubber clogs when staying at motels or using public showers and swimming pools. During hot days wear sandals or no shoes at all.

If athlete's foot develops, apply topical antifungal creams, sprays, or powders. Two of the most effective topical antifungal medicines are available without prescription — tolnaftate and miconazole. Daily use of topical medicines containing salicylic acid may help remove dead skin so that antifungal medicines will reach the areas of infection and work more effectively.

Through a 10-year-old's eyes
By ALEX GILLIES

Last Friday was Step-up day. That is when each grade moves up one grade. That means I spent Friday at Telstar as a 6th Grader. I can't say it was a good day because my biggest disappointment was not having enough money for chocolate milk. At the end of the day I was totally exhausted.

On Thursday I went swimming at the Bethel Inn. When I got out my watch had tons of bubbles inside the glass, (it is waterproof). Then today, Saturday, it stopped. It did have a fairly new battery. My father told me to microwave it so I will. Hold on a second... I'm back. I microwaved it for 10 seconds and nothing happened except now it's working. It's a scientific breakthrough.

By the way, "Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade" is great.

Oxford County's delegation in the Bates class of '89 achieved success that should make its various sending schools proud. Eight students from the county were members of the graduating class and four of those were recognized as honor graduates. Those graduating in addition to Keith were Jennifer Andrews, of West Paris (Phi Beta Kappa); Juliet Chase, of Hebron (high honors in English); Janet Chesley, of Buckfield; Lynn Clift, of West Paris (Phi Beta Kappa); Michelle Housky, of Oxford; James Pulla, of Rumford; and Deborah Schiavi, of South Paris. Eighty six of the 420 graduates received academic honors and of those 40 were elected to Phi Beta Kappa.
